[S.T.E.P.] HR Tips: How do you stay informed?

Did you know that there are hundreds of blogs, listservs, links to professional literature and other online resources in the library and information science field? To make this rich training resource more easily accessible, Libraries’ HR has collected some of the most popular resources on a new Training Resources web page.

Now it’s your turn. How do YOU stay informed? If you have a favorite resource to add to the webpage, please let us know.
