New Special Collections Libraries Building

Currently, the Russell Library along with the other two special collections libraries at the University of Georgia Libraries, the Hargrett Rare Book and Manuscript Library and the Walter J. Brown Media Archives and Peabody Awards Collection, is engaged in a major campaign to secure funds to build a new facility that will house all three special collections. This remarkable building will provide:

- sufficient space for the rapid growth of the collections
- a state-of-the-art preservation environment
- extensive gallery space
- dedicated space for research, teaching, and learning

There are a number of naming opportunities for the Russell Library in the new building, which is on the Regents' list of Capital Projects, and within five years of construction.
